ROYAL HOUSES AMALGAMATED

40-6 1=-23-23-493-

The most imposing ceremony, the m bewildering scene of splendor, the most bewildering scene of splendor, the most profligate use of lordly wealth combined to make the marriage of royalty eclipse any yet consummated by any Eastern Potentate. The nobility of every clime, sun and Nation came to witness the civil contract which seals forever the peace of contract which seals forever the peace of two great Kingdoms, and the celat and pomp which were attendant gave bril-liancy and glory to a picture in animate life not such as shall be soon brought together for another gaze.

The Czar of Russia was crowned amid The Czar of Russia was crowded amid wealth, vast crowds and magnificent ceremony; but, notwithstanding so re-cent a display of, courtly grandeur and Arabian mightiness, which has been de-clared as being the most stupendous clared as being the most stupendous affair ever conceived by man and would stand out in history as far beyond any scheme of imagination which could be brought forth by a Delhi Seer or Moorish Priest, yet in the broad glare of this emphatic assertion, right now and in a assertion, right now and in a section, right now and in a section and superintendent over the factor of time, even in these to see the control of the city are invited to meet at the M. OUR WASHINGTON MAN.

idence Public Ledger WASHINGTON, June 4th, 1897. "If you have ever seen a man with nervous prostration or have had it your-self, you will realize something of the on of the country and the reason for its unusual demands for legislation.

It was an experienced observer of National politics who remarked this in dis-cussing the fact that the people of the United States are urgent and impatient of delay in regard to National legislation more so than ever before in the history of National sifiairs.

"To be sure," he continued, "some of these demands which are being made are not altogether reasonable. There never SENATOR CANNON of Utah introduced a bill the other day proposing to pay an expert bounty upon farm products. The cost of this proposition would be a tridle of $70,000,000 a year.

This published report that the support of the railroads for the Republican eampaign last fall was obtained upon a was in the history of the country a case port of the railroads for the Republican campaign last fall was obtained upon a piedge that the pooling bill should be passed is denounced by Chairman will HANNA as absolutely false in every particular.

THE PRESSURE FOR ACTION.

The romarks quoted above are an accurate picture of gonditions as fully realized by members of Congress here, especially

So much nonsense has been some the rounds. embers of the Senate. The pressure for action on Tariff, Currency, Cuba and other matters of this character is greater than ever before felt. The impatience of delay of even a single day or week is

THE DEMAND BEING MET This pressure on the part of the public for prompf action is keenly felt by mem-bers of both branches of Congress and by the President and Cabinet. The result is seen also in the fact that greater speechus been made on the Tariff Bill that was ever before known in the history of an Administration. Not even the Admin istration of Abraham Lincoln, which found the country in the throes of dissolution when it came into power, accom-plished so much in as short a space of time. President Lincoln's first Congress did not even meet until July 4th, the date at which President McKinley hopes to affix his signature to the completed Tariff Act. And there is good reason to believe that his ambition in this particular will be realized. Splendid progress is being made in the Senate on the Tariff Bill, and Here is a disposition on the part of the Senate to restore House rates in many features of the bill so that the probability of friction between the two bodies, or delay in final agreement, is being constantly reduced. Not only are the Republicans acting as a unit on all matters pertaining to Tariff, but they are constantly reinforced by certain of the Democrats and Populists. Senators Stewart and Jone populate. Senators Stewart and Jones of Nevada vote on every occasion with the Republicans for protective rates in the bill as it is being considered paragraph by paragraph in the Senate, and Senator McEnery, Democrat, also co-operates the with the Republicans is most cases, and will vote for the bill. The speed being made in the Senate on the bill is thus far phenomenal, and unless some obstacles arise the bill will pass the Senate with tense interest in and sympathy for the struggling Cubans, is less extreme in its pressure for instant action. The people are evidently beginning to realize that the President has definite plans which will result in prompt and vigorous action, bu which cannot be completed and put into effect until he receives full information from his own representatives sent to Cu-ba. Judge Calhoun, who has been in Co-ba during the past fortnight obtaining in-formation for the use of the President and State Department, is now on his, way home, and with the information which he is expected to bring, there is reason to believe that before many weeks the Presi-dent will announce a definite policy, and now which will not only be signature on the president will announce as definite policy. one which will not only be advantageous to the Cubans and prom will bring credit to the United States and credit to the Administration of President McKinley.

THE CURRENCY QUEST

The one other subject upon which there The one other subject upon which there has been evidence of great anxiety is that of National currency. The pressure for action upon this subject is somewhat abag ted by the recent utterances of Secretary Gage in his Cincinnati speech in which he gave assurance that after the Tariff is dis-posed of, this subject will be taken up and the pledges of the party in this particular redeemed as they are being redeemed in regard to Tariff, bimetallism, the Cuban To estion and other matters of National

A FINE CIRCUS.

The Harris Show Puts Up one of the Finest Performances Ever Seen in This City—Show Tonight.

(Conn.) Record

One of the neatest and strongest circus performances ever given in this city was presented to fair audiences under the tents of the Harris Nickel Plate Circus vesterday afternoon and evening. Every yesterday afternoon and evening. Every feature was interesting, from the pleasing evolutions of a squad of trained milk white horses to the funny antics of two clowss. "Senstor," the trick stallion and the two trick mules were very intelligent, and performed feats that showed them to be marvels of equine intelligence. Altogether, the show was perfect in every detail, the acrobatic, equestrian and æris work being the finest ever presented by any show in this city. A performance is being given this afternoon and one will be given tonight. It is a good, clean, moral show, and one that is worthy of everyone's patronage. Go tonight. Admission, 10 and 20 cents.
